

Wildflower Walk

Australians All: Becoming Australian

Suggested Reading: Australians All by Nadia Wheatley

Imagine you are a European settler in Australia in the 1800s. The Australian landscape may feel strange and unfamiliar to you. Imagine going to a place where every plant and flower smells, feels and looks different to what you have seen before.

INSTRUCTIONS:

- Go for a walk in a natural environment. Look for wildflowers as you walk. Many Australian wildflowers are very small, so you will have to look carefully.
- Choose a flower to sketch or paint.
- Try to identify the flower.
- Talk about what it might have been like to arrive in a country where the landscape is unique.

SUPPLIES

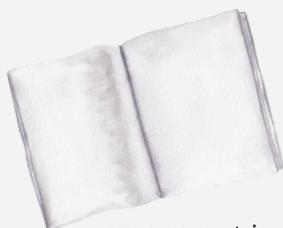

drawing pencils

watercolour paints

paint brushes & water

paper or art journal

